

Royal Society of Tasmania - Northern Chapter

A Special Lecture 2013 for National Science Week

Fish Health and Seafood

will presented by three speakers from the National Centre

for Marine Conservation and Resource Sustainability, University of Tasmania, Launceston

in the Meeting Room, QVMAG at Inveresk

2pm Sunday 11 August 2013

Speakers:

Professor Barbara Nowak:

Fish Parasites – Why Should We Care?

Victoria A Valdenegro-Vega:

Combating Amoebic Gill Disease in Atlantic Salmon.

Fu Dingkum:

Heavy Metal Pollution Effects in Sand Flathead

Admission: $5 General Public, $3 Friends of the Museum, $2 Students
Free for members of the Royal Society of Tasmania

To assist us with the organization of this event

RSVP by Thursday 8 August 2013:

Email bookings@qvmag.tas.gov.au or telephone 6323 3798

This lecture is presented with the generous support of

